The next call is on October 1st. Vince walked through a few concerns on our call with them yesterday. I wanted to meet internally and try to decide what else we would like to talk to them about. I would say we don't have to wait until the next call. I'll send out a calendar invite in the near future.

Seems like we are all in agreement! When is the next SAB call? They seem to have fallen off my calendar---or can someone just call them?

I share many of Lynn's concerns, which are complex enough to discuss in person. I can't see how they could miss someone like Fred Beland, an experimental investigator they had recently for TMBs. This panel will also need a strong chair.

Please look through and let's talk if there are any concerns about technical qualifications or missing expertise.
